Audible Labels

Attached to the prescription container is a small electronic tag that stores the same data found on the printed label. A ScripTalk Station unit is provided free of charge and will read the special label and speak the information aloud.

Large Print Labels

A Large Print booklet-style label is attached to the prescription container and is printed with a high contrast, large font for easy reading of medication information. A 2D bar code provides access to additional drug data via a Smartphone.

BRL Braille Labels

A clear Braille overlay is placed on top of the printed label of the prescription container. The durable adhesive label accommodates quick identification of medications as well as instructions and other important information.
