Braille Readers are Leaders

Braille equips the blind with literacy in the exact same manner that print empowers the sighted. Yet, today, fewer than 10 percent of blind children are learning Braille.

The National Federation of the Blind has launched the “Braille Readers are Leaders” Literacy Campaign to address the Braille literacy crisis. Here’s how you can help:

- Go to www.Braille.org for more information.
- Order a 2009 Louis Braille Commemorative Coin.
- Tell others you know about the NFB.
- Get to know a blind person.
- Understand that literacy should be for all people.
