

U.S. Department of Transportation Summer Transportation Internship Program for Diverse Groups (STIPDG)

- The STIPDG program was created by the U.S. Department of Transportation (DOT) as a mechanism to reach out to undergraduate, graduate, and law students, considering careers in the field of transportation.
- The STIPDG program provides students with a paid internship experience that will capture their attention, reinforce the lessons learned in the classroom, and offer real-world experience in a hands-on, transportation-intensive environment.
- The objectives of the STIPDG Program are to:
 - Attract diverse groups of individuals to transportation-related careers
 - Provide students an opportunity to merge academic studies with work-related assignments
 - Develop and sharpen students' skills to conduct limited research, complete written reports, and make oral presentations
- All majors are encouraged to apply. (Must be a U.S. Citizen)

For additional information about the STIPDG Program or to apply, please visit www.fhwa.dot.gov/education/stipdg.htm

Get Your Career In MOTION

The Internship application deadline is in December!