

Amazon unveils 71 new energy projects, including firsts in Brazil, India, Poland

Amazon is the world's largest corporate purchaser of renewable energy.

As of the end of 2021, Amazon reached 85% renewable energy across its business.

Amazon is expanding its renewable energy investments with 71 new renewable energy projects around the world, including its first renewable energy project in South America—a solar farm in Brazil—and its first solar farms in India and Poland. Once fully operational, Amazon's global renewable energy portfolio will generate 50,000 gigawatt-hours (GWh) of clean energy, which is the equivalent amount of electricity needed to power 4.6 million U.S. homes each year.

Amazon will donate $10 million to help a million people access safe water

Amazon and Water.org are partnering to help launch the Water.org Water & Climate Fund focused on climate-resilient water and sanitation solutions that will result in lasting access for 100 million people across Asia, Africa, and Latin America.

In addition to launching this fund, Amazon's $10 million contribution will directly empower 1 million people with water access by 2025, providing 3 billion liters of water per year in areas facing water scarcity.
